

Refuge Communication Point

In Case of Emergency

Don't Panic. If the doors are closed, the refuge is protected for 60 minutes. In this way you will remain safe until assistance arrives or the all clear is given.

The communication point will allow you to communicate your location to the main reception.

Push the round grey button and release. This will send a signal to the reception to indicate your location. All the green lights will illuminate and a ring tone will sound.

The receptionist will answer your call and inform you of the current situation. Wait for the receptionist to finish speaking before replying. When they are speaking they cannot hear you speak.

Please speak clearly in the direction of the unit. Do not press and hold the button during a call.

The receptionist will endeavour to facilitate an evacuation steward to your location. Note that the steward may not arrive at your location immediately.

If another call is necessary press and release the grey button again.
